Plants of the Month: November

Oregon Grape

Mahonia aquifolium
Native. Evergreen.
How to recognize: 2 feet tall.
Leaves glossy, green, serrated, paired. Sometimes confused with holly.
Stems reddish, slender.
Small golden flowers in spring
Blue berries, not glossy.

Use
The blue fruits are edible but very tart (they improve after a frost.) Can be used in wine or jam.
Medicinal: antiseptic, stimulates liver and spleen.
In the garden, attracts hummingbirds.
Yellow roots can be used as dye.